Thought for the Week

I only pass this way once, any good I do let it be now, as I will only pass this way once.

Presidents Remarks - Jack Odgers

Pres Jack welcomed Members and Guests to the Meeting, he spoke on the MCU outing at the Kick Boxing Comp on the previous, as it was both successful and enjoyable

Club History - Vin Higgins

Vin read from the Bulletin from Meeting 1253, 22nd November 1979, when the membership was 43!

The Guest Speaker was Richard Hayden, who was Senior Projects of the Council and his topic was how tourists were by-passing Whyalla.

Sergeant - Soto Stuppos

In fining Sue Clements, Soto suggested that Sue was a WAG, wife of Ass. Governor and should Tim ever become a DG, would that make her a DAG.

Pres Jack was fined for helping a lady in distress after the Boxing

Ted Kittel

The Dust Solution.

Ted was introduced by Chairman Clint, as a person who had worked very hard to improve the conditions in the City.

Ted was Chairman of the Red Dust Action Group, which struggled for 17 years with BHP and then Onesteel, regarding the amount of iron ore dust which was covering properties at the eastern part of the town.

In the early days, discussions with BHP were apparently quite difficult and they eventually ended up in court. The RDAG were dependent on lawyers acting pro-bono for them.

It was the handover to Onesteel and the appointment of Mark Parry as the General Manager which brought the first break through in the impasse.

Ted explained how he and Mark met one morning for coffee and discussed the problem and from there, things started to move forward.

An agreement was reached, that should the action of the RDAG threaten the future of the steelworks, they would back off.

The problem was finally resolved when Project Magnet was brought on line, this resulted in the ore being crushed at the mine and piped wet to the Pellet plant, so there was no longer a dust problem.

A continuing step, is the Company cleaning houses in the eastern end of the town.

Ted related how this campaign had affected both him and his family, but he was determined to bring it to a conclusion.
